Asking some fundamental questions about each place

1. Why is change needed?

- What kind of place is this? The current lived experience of a place. How a place sees itself– its issues, challenges, and opportunities.
- Why does it need to change? What is most important to that place and why. Their priorities and the different outcomes that are necessary.
- What should the future be? A different scenario for that place. Their hopes and aspirations, and their key criteria for success.

2. Where do things need to change?

- What are the defining features? The key physical aspects of a place. How the built and natural environment shape local possibilities.
- Where are the greatest needs? Locate those communities with the greatest inequality that need support, resources and investment.
- How are assets used? The range of assets in a place and the services they provide to their communities.

3. What changes will make a difference?

- What is currently going on? The range of current activities underway across communities and their connections.
- What is currently planned? The pipeline of current commitments and the changes under active consideration across stakeholders.
- What needs to happen? Target the gaps to be filled, highlight plans that needs to be challenged, their order of doing, and by whom.

1. What are our objectives?

- What are the key outcomes? The specific objectives that individual and collective investments will deliver.
- How will we measure success? A clear articulation of the observable, reported, or quantifiable impact expected

2. How are we going to do this?

- What's the route map? What needs to happen, when and by whom.
- What resources do we need? The inputs required – people, funding, assets, support – to deliver the plan.

3. How do we organise ourselves?

- What's the right programme structure? Sustaining collective leadership accountability, and participation.

And we need to take responsibility for our own future
